Typology Concept

The Tree House Cottage is designed around the pleasure of going up. The ground floor carries the same indoor-outdoor generosity as its neighbour: an open kitchen spilling onto a lounge terrace, a fireplace for cool highland evenings, and a private garden. But where the Ridge Cottage spreads, this one rises. A staircase leads to the upper level, where the bedrooms sit above the canopy, each with its own terrace, each waking to a view of treetops, hills, and open sky. The master looks out over the Lolldaiga Hills with a soaking tub positioned to make the most of it.
